

Lead Management Role Play

In a lead management discussion:

"I never get what I want, I get what I negotiate.

Each problem is "a small issue in a relationship that has to last the distance."

The scenario...

Cathy is a 14 year old girl in Year 9

A teacher has asked to meet with her for 5 mins after class because she has been talking at inappropriate times in class.

- Cathy is disrupting the class
- She has been asked several times to stop and it has gone on
- She talks when the teacher is teaching the class
- This is the first time the teacher has caught up with Cathy outside a lesson
- The students understand that this teacher is a fair person (who believes that the only person whose behaviour you can control is their own)

Extra information:

The school has a clearly defined behaviour code in place. Expectations of behaviour are clearly communicated to students and displayed in the classrooms.

Lead Management Role Play

In a lead management discussion:

"I never get what I want, I get what I negotiate.

Each problem is "a small issue in a relationship that has to last the distance."

The scenario...

Cathy is a 14 year old girl in Year 9

A teacher has asked to meet with her for 5 mins after class because she has been talking at inappropriate times in class.

- Cathy is disrupting the class
- She has been asked several times to stop and it has gone on
- She talks when the teacher is teaching the class
- This is the first time the teacher has caught up with Cathy outside a lesson
- The students understand that this teacher is a fair person (who believes that the only person whose behaviour you can control is their own)

Extra information:

The school has a clearly defined behaviour code in place. Expectations of behaviour are clearly communicated to students and displayed in the classrooms.

Lead Management Role Play

In a lead management discussion:

"I never get what I want, I get what I negotiate.

Each problem is "a small issue in a relationship that has to last the distance."

The scenario...

Cathy is a 14 year old girl in Year 9

A teacher has asked to meet with her for 5 mins after class because she has been talking at inappropriate times in class.

- Cathy is disrupting the class
- She has been asked several times to stop and it has gone on
- She talks when the teacher is teaching the class
- This is the first time the teacher has caught up with Cathy outside a lesson
- The students understand that this teacher is a fair person (who believes that the only person whose behaviour you can control is their own)

Extra information:

The school has a clearly defined behaviour code in place. Expectations of behaviour are clearly communicated to students and displayed in the classrooms.

Lead Management Role Play

In a lead management discussion:

"I never get what I want, I get what I negotiate.

Each problem is "a small issue in a relationship that has to last the distance."

The scenario...

Cathy is a 14 year old girl in Year 9

A teacher has asked to meet with her for 5 mins after class because she has been talking at inappropriate times in class.

- Cathy is disrupting the class
- She has been asked several times to stop and it has gone on
- She talks when the teacher is teaching the class
- This is the first time the teacher has caught up with Cathy outside a lesson
- The students understand that this teacher is a fair person (who believes that the only person whose behaviour you can control is their own)

Extra information:

The school has a clearly defined behaviour code in place. Expectations of behaviour are clearly communicated to students and displayed in the classrooms.